 David Reaboi, Late Republic Nonsense

As anyone who’s followed me for some time knows, as a conservative American of Hungarian Jewish descent, I have been supportive of Hungary—especially at a time when they’re under assault from the media and hard-left NGOs. I’m not in this for the money.

They made a fine, smart choice. And this is a good cause.

Kind of a circular reference going on here lol. You tweet a link to the story which has this tweet embeded in the story itself with no “updated” tags or anything

I don’t understand why it’s controversial for someone to be paid to do a thing they clearly believe. It’s like when the left yells that gun groups “buy” GOP votes. No you idiot. They already agreed with them. They’ll take the money though.

I don't like that they sided with Turkey in that vote, but other than that, so what? Why is anyone picking on you for being Hungarian and proud?

People support causes, not for the money.

As a person who is not a registered foreign agent, it strikes me that much of the criticism of Hungry and Poland by American elites is directly due to the challenge those countries governing parties make to the idea that only left liberal solutions are possible in a 'democracy.'
